Certificate Course - Functional English

2019-2020

II B. A. English Literature

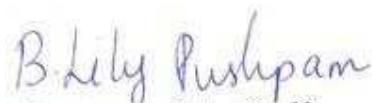

This course was introduced to train the students in using the English language for effective communication. The course also aims at developing the communication skills of the intermediate learners.

The first class was conducted on 9th July, 2019, and there was a total of 53 participants. The certificate course ended on 12th March, 2020 with an examination to analyse the level of comprehension of the students regarding the subject matter.

The class was conducted weekly twice: on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. During these days, the instructor Ms. B. Lily Pushpam used various learning devices and ICT tools, movies, pronunciation and vocabulary activities based on the curriculum to present the information to the students. Quizzes were also conducted in the classroom.

To analyze the performance of the students, an exam was conducted based on the curriculum, and the students performed well, scoring good marks.

At the end of the course, feedback were taken from the participants of the certificate course. They were positive, and the students are looking forward to having better communication skills, and develop their English knowledge and its practical usage.

Certificate Course – Mushroom Cultivation
Course Code : 19CABO51	Duration : 60 Hours

AIM

To provide students with comprehensive knowledge and practical skills in mushroom cultivation, focusing on the biology, techniques, and commercial aspects of growing edible mushrooms.

OBJECTIVES

1. Understand the fundamental biology and taxonomy of mushrooms.
2. Identify various types of edible and non-edible mushrooms.
3. Learn about the nutritional and medicinal benefits of mushrooms.
4. Explore different mushroom cultivation methods (e.g., substrate preparation, inoculation, fruiting conditions).
5. Understand the environmental requirements for successful mushroom growth (temperature, humidity, light).
6. Identify common pests and diseases affecting mushroom crops.
7. Learn about post - harvest processing and storage techniques to maintain quality.
8. Develop a business plan for a small-scale mushroom farming venture.

COURSE OUTCOMES

After the successful completion of the course, participants will be able to:

identify and classify different species of mushrooms based on their morphological characteristics and growth habits.

demonstrate the ability to prepare substrates and inoculate them with mushroom spores or spawn effectively.

monitor and manage environmental conditions required for optimal mushroom growth, including temperature, humidity, and ventilation.

identify signs of pests and diseases and implement appropriate management strategies to minimize their impact on mushroom production.

harvest mushrooms following best practices and execute proper post-harvest handling techniques to ensure quality and shelf life.

create a comprehensive business plan for a mushroom cultivation enterprise, considering market analysis, production methods, and financial projections.

III B.A. English Literature

Report

This course was introduced to give knowledge and awareness for competitive exams due to high student interest. As per the scheduled sixty hours for certificate course, the syllabus for this particular programme was divided into five units.

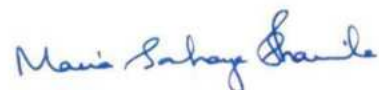

The first class was conducted in 9th July, 2019 and there was a total of 56 participants. The final class was conducted in 17th March, 2020 with an examination to analyze the level of comprehension of the students regarding the subject matter.

The class was conducted weekly twice: on Mondays and Thursdays. During Mondays, the instructor (Mrs.Reeda Albin Mary M.A, Mphil., NET) used various learning devices such as ICT tools, movies, pronunciation and vocabulary activities based on the curriculum to easily present the information to the students. During Thursdays, there was a quiz on the previous discussions in the classroom.

The exam was conducted based on the curriculum and the students performed well, scoring good marks. At the end of the course, feedback was taken from the participants and it was positive. The students are looking forward to further improve their understanding and knowledge on the subject matter.

ONE DAY WORKSHOP ON EDIBLE FUNGICULTURE

Edible fungi are globally accepted for their nutritional values and medicinal properties. They are rich in protein and vitamins but are low in fats for human consumption. They are also rich in minerals and trace elements as well as dietary fibers. Scientific literatures have reported the presence of diversified group of chemical molecules that act as anti-inflammatory, anticancer, anticancer and immunomodulating agents. Therefore, they are considered as perspective organisms potentially, be very important in future food supplies. The cultivation of edible mushrooms is an effective bio conservation technology of transforming waste and woods into potentially valuable resources and could be also an important part of sustainable agriculture. Although, India has the advantage of favourable agro climate, relatively low cost labour, abundant of agro waste and rich fungal diversity, it showed less response in the cultivation of mushrooms and other edible fungi. Knowing all these facts, an attempt is being made by the Department of Botany to provide the UG students an insight into the various aspects of application and cultivation of mushrooms. This training will boost the students to work on their own and provide job skills also they go hand in hand with the future India's mission on "Skill India".

They are one of the best food for improving overall health and physical beauty. Seaweeds are a rich source for proteins, lipids, polysaccharides, minerals, vitamins and enzymes. Important polysaccharides such as agar, alginates and carrageenan obtained from seaweeds are used in pharmaceuticals as well as in the food industries. Some seaweeds are generally suitable for making cool, gelatinous dishes and concoction. Seaweeds are also utilized as animal feed ingredient, raw material for fertilizer and in various other industrial applications. Considering the nutritive and Pharmaceutical value of seaweeds, the Department of Botany, St. Mary's College (Autonomous), Thoothukudi organizes a One Day Lecture cum Workshop on 'Miracles of Seaweeds' on 9 th August, 2019.

➤ Report

Department of Zoology organized an one day training programme on Trash to Treasure : Sea Shell Crafts for III B.Sc Students. The students were trained on how to make decorating items and jewellery from waste sea shells. As Thoothukudi lies in the Gulf of Mannar coastal region it encompasses variety of clams, bivalves, cowries, bubble shells and limpets. Large numbers of whole seashells, arranged to form patterns, have been used to decorate mirror frames, furniture and man-made grottos.

X. Rajathi and her team imparted hands on training and shared their skills and expertise. Ms. M. Sajitha Begam explained how to handle and process the shells collected from sea shore. Ms. B. Arul Vincy designed and created small home décor things like peacock, owl, sparrow and jewellery items like ear rings, necklace, hair clips etc. Mrs. X. Rajathi gave training on wall hanging, clock, pencil stand, mirror. The students were encouraged to do showcase decorative items and fancy items individually. Students were really fascinated by molluscan shells and discovered multiple uses of sea shells.

Entrepreneurship serves as a bridge between invention, innovation and introduction of new products and services in the market and also enables the entrepreneurs to act as engine of growth in the economy. When more and more chemists turn out to be entrepreneurs, it would lift the nation into the next level of industrialization through the small and medium enterprises. This workshop on "Chemist as Entrepreneur" would be an eye opener to all the young aspiring graduates. Hands on Training on "House Hold Articles" probably would incite and inspire them to become future entrepreneurs.

About This College

St. Mary's College (Alummatum) was established in 1948, and continues under the patronage of the Congregation of the Most of Sacred, Sisters of Mary, with the general objective of providing quality education in a Christian atmosphere for young women, especially those affinity to the neighbourhood. The women are trained to be the leaders in all walks of life. It prepares them to play a vital role in bringing about the desired changes in the behaviour of the people of our country, more particularly of the poor and marginalised sections of the society. It fosters an atmosphere of benevolent regard and mutual respect in which the youth of our country may find the best training and service. The college has been conferred with autonomous status in 2009 by UGC.

Department of Mathematics

The department of mathematics is rich in development. It has great reputation and dynamic growth reflected in the academic and intellectual achievements of students. The course was started in 1948 to 1951 B.A. Mathematics was offered where the college was affiliated to Madras University and continued as B.Sc. Mathematics from 1952 onwards. M. Sc. Mathematics was introduced as a full-fledged course from the academic year 2002-2003. B. Ed. Mathematics was introduced in
